OPEN TEAMS QUALIFYING MATCH NINE

Liam Milne

I watched sixth-placed MCCALLUM (Kate McCallum-Axel Johannsson, Anne Brenner-David Caprera) face off against eight-placed BEAUCHAMP (David Beauchamp-Jodi Tutty, Justin Williams-Nathan van Jole). If either team had a big win, they would be well positioned for the knockout stages; a big loss would leave either team with a lot of work to do.

I was shown an intriguing declarer play position by Michael Wilkinson from this opening match:

Dealer: East	♠ Q 4	West	North	East	South
Vul: E-W	♥ J 7 5			1♣	2♠
Brd 6	♦ A K J 4	Double	4♠	Double	All Pass
	♣ A Q 5 3

South declares 4♠x on the lead of the ace of hearts and a heart continuation. Declarer ruffs and plays a spade to the queen and East's ace who taps declarer again in hearts. After crossing to the ♦A, declarer finesses the ♠9 and draws all of East's remaining trumps, exhausting themselves in the process (and pitching two clubs from the dummy). With East out of hearts, declarer can now make the contract by playing king and another diamond! East wins but is endplayed into leading clubs to dummy's ♣AQ.

All well and good, but what if West turns up with the ♦Q? They had been pitching clubs on trumps and still had a pile of (winning) hearts left. As Wilkinson put it, your play really depends on your stomach for doubled vulnerable undertricks. If you make this play and are wrong, it could be quite an expensive adventure (and naturally you were cold the whole time if the ♦Q was onside). East could still just have an opening bid without the ♦Q, e.g. ♠A1086 ♥K64 ♦93 ♣KJ102, so there are no guarantees here. At the table, Wilkinson made the compromise play of finessing the diamond on the second round, still succeeding if the ♦Q was with West or if East was 4324 and was endplayed after winning: -100, but a nice story. In the match I watched, both declarers made eight tricks but Johannsson was in 4♠ while van Jole was only in 3♠, so that was 2 imps to BEAUCHAMP.

Dealer: East	♠ 6 4 2	West	North	East	South

This deal created a difficult defensive problem for many East-West pairs around the room. After South opens 1NT and is raised to 3NT, West leads a heart to dummy's ♥K. A possible play for declarer is a low club from the dummy before the defence have worked out what is going on. The only successful defence is for East to fly with the ♣K and switch to a spade honour.

How easy is this defence to find? Not easy at all, say the 142 E/W pairs (out of 212) who went -600, -630 or even -660. At the table I was watching, Axel Johannsson played 3NT this way and when Jodi Tutty as East ducked at trick two, his ♣9 won and he was home. Tutty told me afterwards that she thinks she should have got this one right; declarer's failure to play on diamonds is suspicious and suggests that the suit is running, which means a second club trick plus the potential ♥A will be nine tricks. Anne Brenner-David Caprera found the winning defence at the other table - nicely done.

When East rises with the ♣K at trick two, West should help by signalling which major to return. Some pairs play the 'Smith Echo' convention where a high card in the suit that declarer plays suggest a shift away from the opening led suit – this would work nicely here as West can suggest that their hearts are weak. Others play suit preference on declarer's lead which would likewise get the job done when West contributes the ♣6 under East's ♣K, a suggestion to switch to the highest suit. Of course, you could just stick to reverse count, but then you are down to guesswork in situations like this.

It was a scary moment here for Jodi Tutty when Johannsson's 'pass or correct' double was passed by McCallum confirming that there were six spades stacked against her. Nevertheless, she took her chances in 2♠x convinced by both her excellent spade spots and great playing strength, a decision I support wholeheartedly. No risk, no gain in this bridge business!

Johannsson led the ♦K and Tutty won to lead a club from the dummy. McCallum unfortunately pulled both clubs from her hand, and after hearing her options from the director, decided that playing the ♣K was the least of evils (it would be a major penalty card otherwise).

This cost a trick as it gave Tutty an entry back to the dummy for a spade finesse. Now she accurately led her singleton heart to enlist the help of South in shortening her trumps. After ruffing the heart return, Tutty and McCallum played a different sort of crossruff to what you're used to seeing, McCallum ruffing declarer's clubs and Tutty returning the favour in the red suits.

Declarer finessed with six trump tricks, two clubs and a diamond for +870 E/W, a fine reward for a brave pass. At the other table, South bid to 4♥ but couldn't make it, so that was 13 imps to BEAUCHAMP.

The match ended up being a close result despite lots of imps being thrown around, BEAUCHAMP running out winners 46-42.

Zephyr Education Inc is the charity the Gold Coast Congress and Qld Bridge Association are supporting again in 2019. A huge thank you to the many bridge players who continue to support Zephyr financially and in myriad other ways.

Zephyr provides the full educational needs of children affected by domestic violence in 77 Qld shelters and associated organisations, all 7 of those shelters in Tasmania and 3 at present in Western Australia.

Zephyr is completely run by volunteers and no one is reimbursed for personal expenses - let alone paid a wage. No rent is paid for premises and overheads are minimal, so virtually all money donated by you is spent helping these vulnerable children fit in and be given the opportunity of a full education.

From 1 November 2018 to 31 January 2019 Zephyr approved requests to assist 1043 children from Prep to Year 12 as well as 2 young adults starting TAFE.

Collections will be held Monday and Wednesday before play and after lunch so please give generously to this very practical and worthwhile charity. Carmel martin is available to answer any questions you may have.

NO LONGER NERVOUS

Earlier in the week, Annette Moss and her squad from Sunshine Coast were watched during a qualifying round of the Novice Teams by a member of the Daily Bulletin staff. Afterwards, Moss confessed to being a bit uneasy on the occasion.

On Thursday, Moss was apparently over the brief bout of nerves, as demonstrated by this deal against the Anderson team in the 10th qualifying match of the event. Moss was playing with Peter Logan. This was the deal:

With her 26-point rock crusher, Moss knew just what to do when her partner opened a weak 2♥. No fooling around with Blackwood or any other convention. She simply bid what she thought her partner could make. Her assessment was accurate and they were soon entering plus 1510 on their scorecards. Well bid, Annette.

The team did not provide details of the play, but it almost certainly involved finessing twice in clubs. It was a 14-IMP swing in a match the Moss team won by the score of 79-8. Moss and Logan were playing with Gary Petterson and Laurie Bell.

From a match today between two teams coming about two-thirds of the way down the field of 212 in the Open Teams...

E/W stop to think about the play. North comments: "I can see what you two are doing. You're actually thinking about which cards to play. You're taking away the time we need to discuss what we should have done, between the hands. That is our favourite part of the game - the discussion after each hand. Could you please hurry up?"
 E/W won the match.

Sartaj Hans told me about two nice opening leads his opponents found in the last match of the qualifying. The only lead to get 500 against 4♠x is the ace of clubs (or an unlikely low heart) for a club ruff, followed by a heart back to the ace and another club ruff. Barry Jones from New Zealand found the killing ace of clubs lead and gained 5 imps for his side when teammates brought back -300.

Andy Hung found the same lead on the last board played in his match. I'm sure glad he did: any other lead and our team would have qualified eighth rather than sixth. It's always nice to report on good things your teammates do!

Your humble correspondent was fortunate enough to be playing the last match of the day and was happy to find a pretty play for an overtrick on this deal.

East led the ♦A and switched to a trump after partner discouraged at trick one. I won the queen of hearts with the ace and returned the suit to West's king. East won the club return with the king and returned another club. After drawing the last trump and cashing my remaining top club, I crossed to dummy in trumps to pull the ♠J from the dummy! After this won, I had my nine tricks for +140.

Can you see why I played this way? East had already shown up with ten points but had passed as dealer so the spade queen was surely offside. My hope was that the layout was as above or that West would duck with ♠Q9xx – my luck was in this time. An overtrick isn't much to brag about but you to have to find something to toot your own horn about sometimes!

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT OF YOUTH BRIDGE

A big thank you to everyone who has attended a Celebrity Speaker talk, or came along to the “Double Dummy” screening at the Pacific Fair Event Cinemas last night. Bridge is a game that is dying slowly as advancing technologies have taken up most of our attention, and one important way of keeping this great game alive is to encourage youth players to learn the game and support them in their endeavours.

The Gold Coast Congress is a big supporter of Youth Bridge as the organisers make a big effort to heavily subsidise their accommodation in conjunction with reduced entry fees so that they can easily participate in the tournament. Your support of the youth fundraiser events goes directly to supporting the young players at this congress.

Thank you also to the Gold Coast Bridge Club who were able to host a Youth Bridge evening that provided free pizza, nibbles, fruits, and snacks! Laura Ginnan was the director and she made sure there that it was a night full of enjoyment which consisted of some hands where a player who held the most HCP on the previous hand, could only bid with eight cards in the next hand! There was also a period where if one particular player wasn't happy with their current partner, they could switch partners with one of the opponents – who hasn't had that wicked wish at some point in the past?

DEFENCE IN DETAIL

Liam Milne

“If you are ever to amount to anything at this game, you must build up a picture of the unseen hands.”

Defending as West in an IMPs game, your opponents bid to a conservative partscore:

Dir: West ♠ K Q J 5
 Vul: Both ♥ A J 10 6
 ♦ Q 6 5
 ♣ 10 9

You (W)
 ♠ 7 3
 ♥ 8 4 2
 ♦ 9 4 3
 ♣ A J 8 7 6

West	North	East	South
Pass	1♣	Pass	1♠
Pass	2♠	Pass	Pass
Pass

Contract: 2♠ by South
Lead: ♦3

Without any clear thoughts on the matter, you lead the ♦3 (thirds and fifths). Dummy plays low, partner inserts the ♦10 and declarer wins their ♦K. After drawing two rounds of trumps on the dummy, declarer plays a club to their ♣K and your ♣A as partner follows with the ♣2 (reverse count).

You continue with the ♦9. This pleasingly wins the trick as dummy plays the ♦6, partner the ♦2 and declarer the ♦7.

Dir: West ♠ J 5
 Vul: Both ♥ A J 10 6
 ♦ Q

You (W)
 ♥ 8 4 2
 ♦ 4
 ♣ J 8 7 6

What do we know about the hand?

It sure looks like declarer has the ace of trumps, and probably five of them unless they have left partner with one trump out. We have also seen the king of clubs and king of diamonds from declarer. Straight away, we should realise that declarer probably has zero other high cards. Because we can see all the jacks (partner must have the ♦J) anything else would give declarer 12 points; they would not have passed 2♠.

What about the shape? Partner probably has four diamonds (assuming the ♦2 on the second round is giving count) and either two or four clubs (because of the ♣2). If partner only has two clubs, declarer is going to ruff lots of losers and make a lot of tricks, so let's give partner four clubs and declarer two.

Now we are getting somewhere. Declarer is probably 5-?=3=2 and therefore must have three little hearts. Do you see the danger now?

The full hand:

Dir: West	♠ K Q J 5
Vul: Both	♥ A J 10 6
	♦ Q 6 5
You (W)	♣ 10 9
♠ 7 3		N		♠ 9 4
♥ 8 4 2		W	E	♥ K Q 5
♦ 9 4 3				♦ A J 10 2
♣ A J 8 7 6		S		♣ Q 5 4 2
	♠ A 10 8 6 2
	♥ 9 7 3
	♦ K 8 7
	♣ K 3

The opponents did well to stop in just 2♠, but even that contract is beatable if you get all your tricks. Bob Hamman's advice in the opening quote would have served you very well on this hand.

It feels so natural to cash partner's diamond trick, but your instincts may have led you astray here. Partner wins the ♦A and can exit a low club to you (partner is also counting the points) but now any return will lead to partner being endplayed in the heart suit. Without a second heart trick, declarer makes 2♠.

The winning defence is to shift to a heart now while you have the lead – and make it the ♥2, suit preference for clubs. Partner wins, cashes their diamond and leads a low club back to your ♣J. Game over for declarer.

Point to remember: it's much easier to solve the problem if you know what the other hands look like. Make counting a habit, not a backup plan.

WELCOME TO NEW PLAYERS AT THE GCC

Have You Discussed? Part 7

This one is from 1984, when the World Bridge Championships took place in Seattle, Washington. Two employees of the host hotel had been examining the leader board, which included all the matches on a giant grid. "I can't believe so many countries are here," one of them said. "There's even one country I never heard of – Bye."

No matter what country you are from, part of your bidding arsenal will surely be Blackwood or one of the variants. The most popular these days is Roman Key Card Blackwood. The question is whether you and your partner have discussed the various aspects of the world's most popular convention.

If you are playing RKCB, do you employ the original version (5♣ = 0 or 3 key cards, 5♦ = 1 or 4) or Eddie Kantar's favourite permutation – the so-called 1430 (5♣ = 1 or 4, 5♦ = 0 or 3)? Do you know why some experts prefer 1430?

It all has to do with the queen ask, which is another topic for discussion. You want to nail this down with partner to avoid screw-ups.

In original RKCB, after the response to 4NT, you can ask about the queen of trumps after a bid of 5C (if spades or hearts are trumps) or of 5D (if spades are trumps). For example:

You	Partner
2♣	2♦
2♥	3♥
4NT	5♣ (old-fashioned, 0 or 3)
5♦	?

Your 5♦ asks whether partner has the trump queen. With no trump queen, partner signs off at 5♥. With the queen, partner bids kings up the line, starting with 5♠. With the trump queen but no side kings, partner bids 5NT.

Let's change the auction slightly.

You	Partner
2♣	2♦
2♥	3♥
4NT	5♦ (old-fashioned, 1 or 4)

You know you are off one key card, but you are willing to bid slam if your side has the trump queen. You can't ask, however, because 5♦ has already been bid. Your choices are to sign off in 5♥ or bid the slam and hope. Using 1430 responses, you can bid 5♦ when partner shows 1 or 4 key cards with a bid of 5♣.

You can see that when the trump suit is spades, you have no problem with either 0314 or 1430. Over 5♣ you can bid 5♦ as the queen ask; over 5♦, 5♥ does the trick.

Touching on another aspect of Blackwood, everyone knows that 5NT asks for kings. What is your agreement with partner about the responses? In earlier times, the responses were 5♣ to show all the kings or none, 5♦ to show one, etc.

Experienced players now bid kings up the line. Skipping a level denies holding the king of the skipped suit. For example, 5NT – 6♦ denies possession of the ♣K. This can come in handy when you have a hand such as

♠ A K Q 8 7 ♥ 5 ♦ A Q J 10 9 ♣ K 4

Partner has supported your spade suit and you learn by checking for key cards that he has two aces, so you are naturally interested in a grand slam. If your partnership answers only in numbers of kings, when partner shows one you won't know whether it is the ♥K or the ♦K. If you respond specific kings, partner's bid of 5♥ would deny the ♦K, so you would probably settle for 6♠. If, however, partner bids 6♦ over your 5NT, you can count 13 tricks so you would bid 7NT with confidence.

Should there be unexpected teething problems, we appreciate your patience. If proven it will be made available free to event coordinators all round Australia.
